Jeffrey spent his early years in Illinois and moved with his family to Springfield, Missouri when he was fifteen. The family lived in several different places due to his dad's work requirements.

Following his graduation from high school and earning his associates degree, Jeffrey worked as a screen printer. He also helped his brother in the roofing business. He was a hard worker and was good at what he did.

Family was the cornerstone of Jeffrey's world. He is survived by his mother, Sharon Curtis of Lebanon, Missouri; his father, David Norberg of Springfield, Missouri; his brother, Troy Norberg of Pleasant Hope, Missouri and his sister, Lisa Kim Baker of Fair Grove, Missouri; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Jeffrey had a hobby of collecting snakes and taking care of snakes. He enjoyed gardening and flowers.

He loved his family so very much and that love was felt in return. He was supportive of his family and was present in their lives in a meaningful way. The memories that Jeffrey made with his family will be treasured for years to come.

A private burial will be held at a later date.
